

annual index 1976

Published by The National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th St. NW, Washington, DC 20036

Hi, Rangers! Here is the Annual Index for my 1976 issues. You can use it to find all sorts of information or to find the facts and stories you read last year. I use the index myself when I want to look up something important.

Just yesterday I wanted to find out about my friend Doris Deer. I turned to the subject listing to look for deer. All the information is listed in alphabetical order by subject. Under "D" I found Deer: mule, white-tailed. Doris is a white-tailed deer, so I looked at the entries after "white-tailed." It said: Apr. 10; May 20-23, poster 24, 25. The page numbers in color refer to major articles. So first I looked in the May issue and turned to page 20. Wow! The article reminded me that the white-tailed deer had been nominated for the Bicentennial Animal of the Year Award. I liked reading that story again. All those important facts about white-tailed deer! And there was the poster of a fawn, on pages 24 and 25.

Then I turned to page 10 in the April issue. There I found an article called Prairie Days, with more information about deer habitat. That made me want to learn more about habitat in general, so I looked up habitat under "H" in the index. I found where I could read about the National Wildlife Federation's Backyard Habitat.

To recall the contest for Bicentennial Animal of the Year, I looked in the special listing of Bicentennial Features at the end of the index. It told me that the winner is listed in the October magazine on page 8.

I use the Annual Index often. Maybe the next time you have a report to do for school, you could find what you need in the index.

Remember, the colored page numbers are for feature stories. Look those up first, but don't skip the other pages. Wise Old Owl could be telling you something important too.

Isn't the Annual Index handy? You should pull it out of this magazine carefully and save it along with your 1976 issues in a neat pile on a shelf or in a box. I keep mine in a binder that the National Wildlife Federation sells.

Happy hunting in the index! R.R.
